President's Message

Fred Liddell

Our reunion is just around the corner and I am anxious to get there. I don't know about you but I look forward to seeing old friends and meeting new ones.

Some strange things have happened since our last newsletter. The celebration at the Punch Bowl and the Banquet at the Hale Koa is past and were they ever special this year. The tour of the new Pacific Aviation Museum at Pearl Harbor was outstanding and the launch trip around Ford Island was narrated by a very knowledgeable young man who had great trivia to throw-in. The best I have ever been on. Nick and his crew, especially Francis Yasutake, out-did themselves this year. If you have never made this trip, it is something really worth the time, effort and money to go. Nick and the Hawaii Chapter of the KWVA do an awfully good job of hosting this event. The entertainment at the banquet is well worth the time and cost.

I received a letter after returning from Hawaii chewing me out for changing a widow's address after she had sent it to me. "I won't thank you for that." I also got the same response on her husband's obituary. "I also won't thank you for that." She seems to forget we knew her husband before she did and some of us served with him before and after capture. I'll post the letter in Denver. Another bunch of mail I received was regarding Joe Hammond. I won't make any comments here but will post this also in Denver. I know my opinion of Hammond. I still remember the incident at Fort Bragg during the Olson trial, when Hammond came into the NCO Club. The man sitting next to me jumped up with a .45 in his hand. I think "Duke" expressed everyone's disgust at that moment.

Joe Ramirez' son, Joe Ramirez Jr., is on his way to Europe according to the Stars and Stripes. Remember (then) Col Ramirez. He was our guest speaker at the reunion in Nashville, TN. 2006. He is now Brigade General. Congratulations to Joe and Maria.

Come to Hawaii next year, the food after the Punch Bowl Ceremony was by the Jesus Christ Mission Church (excellent Korean food). It was a week with many many very good memories.

Hoping to see you in Denver.

Norman Hale, Chaplain

Hello to all our buddies and families!!  We hope you are doing well. We are fine.  Well, it is almost time to meet again and I am praying for our security. Psalm 23:4,

My prayer for all of us:

Our father, surely the multiplying tragedies of our day should impress us with the slight hold we have upon the thread of life. So, teach us to number our days so that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Apart from Thee, we have no security, no confidence, and no hope. Through faith in Thee may we lie down and sleep assured that if we awake on earth, God is with us, and if we awake in heaven, we are with God. Thank God for Christian faith at such a time as this. God keep us safe as we travel to Denver, and will forever praise your name.

In Jesus Name, Amen

This and That

TRIBUTE FOR NEWTON DUKE: On June 7, 2008, a tribute was held at Gardendale First Baptist located in Gardendale, AL for Newton Duke, in honor of his service and sacrifice during the Korean War. Mr. Duke was a POW for 28 months (May 51-Aug 53), during which he was wounded on eight different occasions. Mr. Duke was not awarded his POW medal until 1988, 35 years after his release. In 2003, 50 years after his release, he was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds he received while captive but the award has never been formally presented. LtG Kevin I. Campbell, the Commanding General of Army Space and Missile Defense Command located on Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, AL, presented Mr. Duke with his Purple Heart at this tribute.

VETERANS BENEFIT FOR SURVIVING SPOUSES: Veterans Benefit Improvement Act of 1996 allows the Surviving spouse an entire month of compensation for the month in which the veterans dies. If you receive a letter stating that you must return his check/deposit, that is not true.

Hawaii Reunion report

The Ex-POW’s, Korean War, held their annual reunion in Honolulu, Hawaii earlier this month. Over 160 attendees gathered to honor the POW/MIA survivors and those who perished while defending our country during the Korean War. This reunion was organized by Nick Nishimoto, and assisted by Bill Yasutake and Tommy Tahara to commemorate and recognize the POW/MIA soldiers and veterans.

Nishimoto, along with retired Colonel Al Streek (master of ceremony), hosted the opening banquet on April 3, 2008 at the Hale Koa Hotel. The Consul General to South Korea and various military personnel welcomed all of the ex-POW’s. During the banquet, ex-POW’s described their individual stories; some of the stories were shared with a sense of humor. However the severity and cruelty of being a prisoner was never misplaced. Clarence Pang described one moment when he told his captors, “The best thing my grandmother ever did was leave your country!” This defiant comment earned him a brutal beating and had him literally thrown out the door. Shorty Estabrook had pogs made that read “Tiger’s Survivors” across them; tiger was one of their most cruel punishers during captivity. Most of the ex-POW’s knew “Tiger.” Tiger had a reputation for tormenting his prisoners on long marches; many did not survive.

President Bush signed a proclamation declaring April 9 as POW/MIA National Recognition Day.

SPECIAL THANKS TO KWVA HAWAII CHAPTER #1

Tommy & Mae Tahara, David & Patsy Higa, Lucio Sanico, Mike Inouye, Al Streek (master of ceremonies), Francis Yasutake (Nick Nishimoto’s right hand man), Susumu Shinagawa.

A good time was had by all. Fantastic banquet with singing and dancing and the food was out of this world. Fred Liddell presented a plaque to Nick Nishimoto for his dedication and hard work as chairman of the many annual POW/MIA weeks in Hawaii.

On the 7th of April we had a great BBQ picnic on the beach by Fort DuBussey. On the 8th of April we toured Pearl Harbor and paid respects at the Arizona Memorial. We also went to the Air Museum on Ford Island. Then we went to Hickam Air Force Base to have lunch at the Sea Breeze. After lunch we went to JPAC for a tour and briefing.

On the 9th of April we were up early to catch the bus to the Punch Bowl National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific. Keynote speaker was Rear Admiral Donna L. Crisp USN Commander of JPAC. Consul General of the Republic of Korea, Kang Dae-hyun, was a feature speaker. There was a hula dancer and vocals. USMC Forces Pacific Band played and the rifle salute was rendered by the USAF firing detail. Colors were presented by a joint color guard and echo taps by the USMC buglers. Korean War Ex-POW Joe Ramirez led the Pledge of Allegiance. Several wreaths were placed by former Prisoners of War and other Veterans Groups.

Thanks to Shorty Estabrook & Susan Uyemura for their reports.

Korean War POW/MIA Report (JPAC)

Our friend, Phillip A. O’Brien, OSD-DOMO submitted the following update on recovery and identification work.

These are iffy times, a lot is happening, not all of it is obvious, but we seem to be moving to good purpose. A little bad news first, it’s not very likely that we’ll be going into North Korea this year. It is still barely possibly, but the North Koreans have not been “playing us” in that direction. I say this because their whole world is one of hints and signals and indications. They seldom “speak” until they’re ready to “do.” Surprisingly, a couple of outside factors may be working against an invitation this year; things that have nothing to do with our recovery work in North Korea.

First, the Olympics in Beijing. Mainland China is hosting the world, China is North Korea’s “elder brother” and there is a special relationship. North Korea will be at the Olympics, no great fanfare, just there. Sometimes North Korea feels comfortable playing on the world stage, and sometimes it doesn’t. It’s hard to play up your relative importance when you’re simply a guest, just one of 200 or so.

Second, continuing news coverage and scientific commentary on the Israeli raid that destroyed the nuclear reactor in Syria back in September 2007. No kidding! Here I’m speaking only in terms of public, academic, international, but North Korea involvement in the design and construction is very widely understood. This did not go as planned. Quite beyond any U.S. interest, the World scientific community has had a great deal to say, none of it very nice. When things go wrong, as here, seniors in the North Korean government usually “tighten up” a bit on their juniors. That means that some projects, even those enjoying a lot of favor, are put on the back burner. Not for too long, just for a while. But all of that likely means a delay for us, in other words, “next year.”

Now, let’s try some good news. Our recovery teams have been working in South Korea. There are three areas of interest, and a really good chance that different teams will be working in all three. We’ve already had men walking along the so-called “Trail of Tears,” the main POW march routes (mainly from 1951) north and west across the upper end of South Korea. Even as I write, interviews and trial digs are being done. One village (we know it was a POW holding point) is of special interest. Two sets of remains were recovered from nearby in 1953, and a third set in 1993: now we’re building interview leads that, we hope, will take us to the main burial sites. Work in progress, I have to respect “site integrity,” so I can’t say much more than that right now. But things are happening, as we speak...

A second team will be working in South Korea along and near the Naktong Perimeter, looking for losses from August-September 1950. Battle zones along the river front have been pretty well covered, but more and more the question is one of short-term POWs, who may have died within two or three days and 10 or 20 miles. We don’t always have surviving witnesses, but we do have surviving memories, coming down to the second and third generations in families that have returned to the Rich in frontier heritage, and to coordinate interment with military honors on behalf of the Secretary of the Army.

Laurence was a member of L Company, 31st Infantry Regiment, then making up the 31st Regimental Combat Team (RCT), 7th Infantry Division. The team was engaged against the Chinese People’s Volunteer Forces near the Chosin Reservoir, North Korea from Nov. 27-Dec. 11, 1950. The unit was forced to retreat to the south due to intense enemy fire. Laurence was among many soldiers reported missing in action.

In 2001, joint U.S. and Democratic People’s Republic of Korea teams, led by the joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC), conducted two excavations of a mass grave near the Chosin Reservoir. The site corre- lates closely with defensive positions held by the 31st RCT at the time of the Chinese attacks. The teams recovered remains believed to be those of 11 U.S. servicemen. Analysis of the remains subsequently led to the identifications of three individuals, including Laurence.

April 3, 2008: The Department of Defense POW/MIA Personnel Office announced today that the remains of two U.S. servicemen, missing from the Korean War, have been identified and will be returned to their families for burial with full military honors. They are Capt. Edward B. Scullion of Norfolk, Va.; and Pfc. Eldwood D. Reynolds of Schoolfield, Va.; both U.S. Army. Reynolds will be buried April 18 in Danville, Va., and Scullion will be buried this summer in Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C. Representatives from the Army met with Scullion’s and Reynolds’ next-of-kin to explain the recovery and identification process, and to coordinate interment with military honors on behalf of the Secret- ary of the Army.

Both men were members of A Company, 32nd Infantry Regiment, then attached to the 31st Regimental Combat Team (RCT), 7th Infantry Division. The team was engaged against the Chinese People’s Volunteer Forces near the Chosin Reservoir, North Korea from Nov. 27-Dec. 1, 1950. Both soldiers died in late November as result of intense enemy fire, but their bodies were not recovered at the time.

Between 2002 and 2005, joint U.S. and Democratic People’s Republic of Korea teams, led by the joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC), conducted excavations of three burial sites near the Chosin Reservoir. The sites correlate closely with defensive positions held by the 31st RCT

Identified Remains

March 26, 2008: The Department of Defense POW/Missing Person- nel Office announced today that the remains of a U.S. serviceman, missing in action from the Korean War, have been identified and will be returned to his family for burial with full military honors. He is U.S. Army Sgt. Harry J. Laurence of Cleveland, Ohio. He will be buried April 9 in Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C. Korean War POW/MIA Report (JPAC), cont.

The story of the POWs from Kujang and Kunu-ri is just one of many from the Korean War that have yet to be resolved. Among other forensic identification tools and circumstantial evidence, scientists from the Armed Forces DNA Identification Laboratory and JPAC also used mitochondrial DNA and dental comparisons in both identification cases. The remains recovered from the sites led to the identification of 10 individuals, including Scullion and Reynolds.

Among other forensic identification tools and circumstantial evidence, scientists from the Armed Forces DNA Identification Laboratory and JPAC also used mitochondrial DNA and dental comparisons in both identification cases. The remains recovered from the sites led to the identification of 10 individuals, including Scullion and Reynolds.

Meanwhile, laboratory work continues. Of special interest to all of us, identification of SFC George Walter Koon [POW 1 December 1950, Medical/9th Infantry] and SFC Jack O. Tye [POW 27 November 1950, L/38th Infantry] has just been announced. Both men were captured during the extended battle around Kujang and Kunu-ri. But their recoveries were made just north of the Umsan battle zone, where the 8th Cavalry had fought on 2 November 1950. Here's the story: many of the POWs from Kujang and Kunu-ri crossed through the area, just north of Umsan, en route to Pulchim-Tarigol, where they were at Christmas time, before going on to Camp 5 in 1951. Many years later, while our recovery teams were working at Umsan, our North Korean escorts allowed them to go off the edge of the battle field to do remains searches at nearby villages. The teams knew immediately that these recoveries were POWs, because they were not on the battlefield. They also knew that the men were not from the Umsan battle, because they were in different villages, not along the route that the Umsan POWs had used. From there, it all became a case of reconstructing who these men might be. Between site work, lab work, and DNA sampling, we finally settled on who two of the men were. Several companions are still in work, and all are from the Kujang and Kunu-ri battle zone.

I’m really proud of what the lab did here, it was a lot of very difficult work. But they got to the answers and they “did it right”. That’s the whole idea... best to all. — Phil O’B

Happy Endings

As I stood on the deck of the USS Arizona Memorial on the 8th of April this year I thought of all those men entombed inside her since December 7, 1941. Each year those who survived and die are cremated and brought to the Arizona Memorial and Navy divers take those remains and place them inside the hold of that gallant ship to join their shipmates forever.

While deep in my thoughts, Doris Usoarc was standing beside me and told me of an July 24, 1934, incident involving the USS Arizona. It was on that day that her someday to-be father-in-law drowned in the hold of a fishing vessel off Cape Flattery in the Strait of Juan de Fuca just off the coast of Washington State. The fishing vessel Umatilla, a purse seiner, was going out with the fishing fleet early in the morning when it was rammed from behind by the Arizona, breaking her in two. The Arizona was heading toward open seas and California.Two of the crew of the Umatilla lost their lives and one of them, John Usoarc, would have become Doris’s father-in-law had he lived.

And now for the rest of the story: Tiger Survivor Hank Leerlamp married Doris in 1943. But they parted because Hank was being stationed overseas. Hank became a POW with the Tiger Survivors in Korea for more than 37 months. They may have parted but their love for each other continued over the years. They have a daughter, Christine. This wonderful couple was reunited a few years ago. They are so happy now. It is a dream come true, said Hank. You can see the love between them.

Ann. All of this is iffy, but we know that many of the men are still there, nearby, and we’re out to find them.

Finally, on recovery work, another team will be looking at some river and harbor crash sites where aircraft went down. It may still be possible to find wreckage, the searching technology has gotten a lot better. And if we do find “metal,” there is a good chance of recovering remains. It all varies, case by case, but not without hope.

Meanwhile, laboratory work continues. Of special interest to all of us is the identification of SFC George Walter Koon [POW 1 December 1950, Medical/9th Infantry] and SFC Jack O. Dr. J. E. Scullion's and Reynolds’ identification. JPAC also used mitochondrial DNA and dental comparisons in both cases by case, but not without hope.

Among other forensic identification tools and circumstantial evidence, scientists from the Armed Forces DNA Identification Laboratory and JPAC also used mitochondrial DNA and dental comparisons in both Scullion’s and Reynolds’ identification.

Identified Remains
March 26, 2008: The Department of Defense POW/Missing Personnel Office announced today that the remains of a U.S. serviceman, missing in action from the Korean War, have been identified and will be returned to his family for burial with full military honors. He is U.S. Army Sgt. Harry J. Laurence of Cleveland, Ohio. He will be buried April 9 at Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C. Representatives from the Army met with Laurence’s next-of-kin to explain the recovery and identification process, and to coordinate interment with military honors on behalf of the Secretary of the Army.

Laurence was a member of L Company, 31st Infantry Regiment, then making up the 31st Regimental Combat Team (RCT), 7th Infantry Division. The team was engaged against the Chinese People’s Volunteer Forces near the Chosin Reservoir, North Korea from Nov. 27-Dec. 11, 1950. The unit was forced to retreat to the south due to intense enemy fire. Laurence was among many soldiers reported missing in action.

In 2001, joint U.S. and Democratic People’s Republic of Korea teams, led by the joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC), conducted two excavations of a mass grave near the Chosin Reservoir. The site correlates closely with defensive positions held by the 31st RCT at the time of the Chinese attacks. The teams recovered remains believed to be those of 11 U.S. servicemen. Analysis of the remains subsequently led to the identifications of three individuals, including Laurence.

April 3, 2008: The Department of Defense POW/Missing Personnel Office announced today that the remains of two U.S. servicemen, missing from the Korean War, have been identified and will be returned to their families for burial with full military honors. They are Capt. Edward B. Scullion of Norfolk, Va.; and Pfc. Ewell D. Reynolds of Schofield, Va.; both U.S. Army. Reynolds will be buried April 18 in Danville, Va., and Scullion will be buried this summer in Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C. Representatives from the Army met with Scullion’s and Reynolds’ next-of-kin to explain the recovery and identification process, and to coordinate interment with military honors on behalf of the Secretary of the Army.

Both men were members of A Company, 32nd Infantry Regiment, then attached to the 31st Regimental Combat Team (RCT), 7th Infantry Division. The team was engaged against the Chinese People’s Volunteer Forces near the Chosin Reservoir, North Korea from Nov. 27-Dec. 1, 1950. Both soldiers died in late November as result of intense enemy fire, but their bodies were not recovered at the time.

Between 2002 and 2005, joint U.S. and Democratic People’s Republic of Korea teams, led by the joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC), conducted excavations of three burial sites near the Chosin Reservoir. The sites correlate closely with defensive positions held by the 31st RCT

Combat Pay

During the Korean War Army POW's were paid for only 4 months of Combat Pay at $45.00 a month. Only the Army did this, as far as can be determined. POW's from the other services may have been paid some sort of hazardous duty pay, flight pay, jump pay etc. in lieu of Combat Pay.

If this applies to you, did you continue to receive such pay after your imprisonment?

Korean War POW/MIA Report (JPAC)

Our friend, Phillip A. O'Brien, OSD-DOMO submitted the following update on recovery and identification work.

These are iffy times, a lot is happening, not all of it is obvious, but we seem to be moving to good purpose. A little bad news first, it's not very likely that we'll be going into North Korea this year. It is still barely possible, but the North Koreans have not been "playing us" in that direction. I say this because their whole world is one of hints and signals and indications. They like to "speak" until they're ready to "do." Surprisingly, a couple of outside forces may be working against an invitation this year, things that have nothing to do with our recovery work in North Korea.

First, the Olympics in Beijing. Mainland China is hosting the world, China is North Korea's "elder brother," and there is a special relationship. North Korea will be at the Olympics, no great fanfare, just there. Sometimes North Korea feels comfortable playing on the world stage, and sometimes it doesn't. It's hard to play up your relative importance when you're simply a guest, just one of 200 or so.

Second, continuing news coverage and scientific commentary on the Israeli raid that destroyed the nuclear reactor in Syria back in September 2007. No kidding! Here I'm speaking only in terms of public, academic, information, but North Korea involvement in the design and construction is very widely understood. This did not go as planned. Quite beyond any U.S. interest, the World scientific community has had a great deal to say, none of it very nice. When things go wrong, as here, seniors in the North Korea government usually "tighten up" a bit on their juniors. That means that some projects, even those enjoying a lot of favor, are put on the back burner. Not for too long, just for a while. But all of that likely means a delay for us, in other words, "next year."

Now, let's try some good news. Our recovery teams have been working in South Korea. There are three areas of interest, and a really good chance that different teams will be working in all three. We've already had men walking along the so-called "Trail of Tears," the main POW march routes (mainly from 1951) north and west across the upper end of South Korea. Even as I write, interviews and trial digs are being done. One village (we know it was a POW holding point) is of special interest. Two sets of remains were recovered from nearby in 1953, and a third set in 1993: now we're building interview leads that, we hope, will take us to the main burial. Work in progress, I have to respect "site integrity," so I can't say much more than that right now. But things are happening, as we speak...

A second team will be working in South Korea along and near the Naktong Perimeter, looking for losses from August-September 1950. Battle zones along the river front have been pretty well covered, but the North Korea government usually "tighten up" a bit on their juniors. That means that some projects, even those enjoying a lot of favor, are put on the back burner. Not for too long, just for a while. But all of that likely means a delay for us, in other words, "next year.

As you may know, the USS Utah was sunk on December 7, 1941 when the Japanese attack Pearl Harbor, viewing the USS Utah memorial, Shorthy tstawbrook learned an interesting fact.

One of the Chiefs assigned to the Utah had brought the cremated remains of his young daughter on board hoping to cast them into the sea when the ship sailed. But before that could happen the ship was sunk. The Chief, the remains of his daughter, along with other sailors are entombed inside the Utah.

If this applies to you, did you continue to receive such pay after your imprisonment?

Please mail this information to: Shorthy Estabrook

Norman Hale, Chaplain

Hello to all our buddies and families! We hope you are doing well. We are fine. Well, it is almost time to meet again and I am praying for our security. Psalm 23:4,

My prayer for all of us:

Our father, surely the multiplying tragedies of our day should impress us with the slight hold we have upon the thread of life. So, teach us to number our days so that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Apart from Thee, we have no security, no confidence, and no hope. Through faith in Thee we may lie down and sleep assured that if we awake on earth, God is with us, and if we awake in heaven, we are with God. Thank God for Christian faith at such a time as this. God keep us safe as we travel to Denver, and will forever praise your name.

In Jesus Name, Amen

TRIBUTE TO NEWTON DUKE: On June 7, 2008, a tribute was held at Gardendale First Baptist located in Gardendale, AL for Newton Duke, in honor of his service and sacrifice during the Korean War. Mr. Duke was a POW for 28 months (May 51-Aug 53), during which, he was wounded on eight different occasions. Mr. Duke was not awarded his POW medal until 1988, 35 years after his release. In 2003, 50 years after his release, he was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds he received while captive but the award has never been formally presented. LTG Kevin I. Campbell, the Commanding General of Army Space and Missile Defense Command located on Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, AL, presented Mr. Duke with his Purple Heart at this tribute.

Hawaii Reunion report

The Ex-POW’s, Korean War, held their annual reunion in Honolulu, Hawaii earlier this month. Over 160 attendees gathered to honor the POW/MIA survivors and those who perished while defending our country during the Korean War. This reunion was organized by Nick Nishimoto, and assisted by Francis Yasutake and Tommy Tahara to commemorate and recognize the POW/MIA soldiers and veterans.

Nishimoto, along with retired Colonel Al Streck (master of ceremony), hosted the opening banquet on April 3, 2008 at the Hale Koa Hotel. The Consul General to South Korea and various military personnel welcomed all of the ex-POWs. During the banquet, ex-POWs described their individual stories; some of the stories were shared with a sense of humor. However the severity and cruelty of being a prisoner was never missed. Clarence Pang described one moment when he told his captors, “The best thing my grandmother ever did was leave your country!” This defiant comment earned him a brutal beating and had him literally thrown out the door. Shorty Estabrook had pogs made that read “Tiger’s Survivors” across them; tig was one of their most cruel punishers during captivity. Most of the ex-POWs knew “Tiger.” Tiger had a reputation for tormenting his prisoners on long marches; many did not survive.

President Bush signed a proclamation declaring April 9 as POW/MIA National Recognition Day.

SPECIAL THANKS TO KWVA HAWAII CHAPTER # 1

Tommy & Mae Tahara, David & Patsy Higa, Lucio Sanico, Mike Inouye, Al Streck (master of ceremonies), Francis Yasutake (Nick Nishimoto’s right hand man), Susumu Shingawan

A good time was had by all. Fantastic banquet with singing and dancing and the food was out of this world. Fred Liddell presented a plaque to Nick Nishimoto for his dedication and hard work as chairman of the many annual POW/MIA weeks in Hawaii.

On the 7th of April we had a great BBQ picnic on the beach by Fort Deesus. On the 8th of April we toured Pearl Harbor and paid respects at the Arizona Memorial. We also went to the Air Museum on Ford Island. Then we went to Hickam Air Force Base to have lunch at the Sea Breeze. After lunch we went to JPAC for a tour and briefing.

On the 9th of April we were up early to catch the bus to the Punch Bowl National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific. Keynote speaker was Rear Admiral Donna L. Crisp. USN Commander of JPAC, Consul General of the Republic of Korea, Kang Dae-hyun, was a feature speaker. There was a hula dancer and vocals. USMC Forces Pacific Band played and the rifle salute was rendered by the USAF firing detail. Colors were presented by a joint color guard and echo taps by the USMC buglers. Korean War Ex-POW Joe Ramirez led the Pledge of Allegiance. Several wreaths were placed by former Prisoners of War and other Veterans Groups.

We are starting to put together our program for the upcoming Reunion in Denver, and hope that you are making plans to attend. The Armed Forces Reunions will be handling our reunion as in the past.

President’s Message
Fred Liddell

Our reunion is just around the corner and I am anxious to get there. I don’t know about you but I look forward to seeing old friends and meeting new ones.

Some strange things have happened since our last newsletter. The celebration at the Punch Bowl and the Banquet at the Hale Koa is past and were they ever special this year. The tour of the new Pacific Aviation Museum at Pearl Harbor was outstanding and the launch trip around Ford Island was narrated by a very knowledgeable young man who had great trivia to throw in. The best I have ever been on. Nick and his crew, especially Francis Yasutake, out-did themselves this year. If you have never made this trip, it is something really worth the time, effort and money to go. Nick and the Hawaii Chapter of the KWVA do an awfully good job of hosting this event. The entertainment at the banquet is well worth the time and cost.

I received a letter after returning from Hawaii churning me out for changing a widow’s address after she had sent it to me. “I won’t thank you for that.” I also got the same response on her husband’s obituary. “I also won’t thank you for that.” She seems to forget we knew her husband before she did and some of us served with him before and after capture. I’ll post the letter in Denver. Another bunch of mail I received was regarding Joe Hammond. I won’t make any comments here but will post this also in Denver. I know my opinion of Hammond. I still remember the incident at Fort Bragg during the Olson trial, when Hammond came into the NCO Club. The man sitting next to me jumped up with a .45 in his hand. I think “Duke” expressed everyone’s disgust at that moment.

Joe Ramirez’ son, Joe Ramirez Jr., is on his way to Europe according to the Stars and Stripes. Remember (then) Col Ramirez. He was our guest speaker at the reunion in Nashville, TN. 2006. He is now Brigade General. Congratulations to Joe and Maria.

Come to Hawaii next year, the food after the Punch Bowl Ceremony was by the Jesus Christ Mission Church (excellent Korean food). It was a week with many many very good memories.

Hoping to see you in Denver.
